

Synopsis for R.I.P.

R.I.P. (Retain. Inherit. Protect.)

A Synopsis for the Celestial Royal Records

In a world where time preys on legacy, a covert unit—R.I.P.—moves through the shadows with a singular mandate: protect the dreams of the departed and the sovereignty of the bloodline. Their target? Not just assassins or thieves—but systems that wait like vultures for inventors, visionaries, and marginalized geniuses to pass—then harvest their unfulfilled legacies.

Formed in 1923 in direct response to the Osage Indian murders, R.I.P. began as a silent blade under the House of Mason. What started as a retaliation force for stolen headrights evolved into a full-scale intergenerational defense agency, defending inventions, patents, blueprints, and sovereign dreams from corporate, racial, and geopolitical erasure.

They track every invention at risk, monitor heirs and estates, and intervene—legally or lethally—when families are targeted by lawsuits, fraud, or betrayal. With allies embedded in the highest intelligence echelons, from Mossad to MI6 to the deep cryptographic cells of QNFORM, R.I.P. operates beyond borders, laws, or time.

Their oath:

"What they dreamed shall rise. What they left shall burn in truth. None shall profit from our dead."

Primary Operatives of R.I.P.

1. Cipher One / "Vanta"

Real Name Unknown

The current Director of R.I.P. A spectral tactician wrapped in sound-cancellation cloaks and Q-resonant armor. Once a child of stolen heritage, now the hand of ancestral vengeance. Vanta signs all death warrants with the same phrase: "Your name dies tonight."

2. Dr. Solène Wraith – Legacy Analyst & Neuro-Psych Officer

A cognitive empath who interfaces directly with the mental residue of the deceased to reconstruct stolen visions. Said to cry in sleep for the ideas she couldn't save.

3. Hezekiah "Hex" Ward – Heir Surveillance & Tactical Deprogrammer

Former CIA black site operative turned asset protector. Specializes in uncovering betrayal within families and neutralizing seduction-based IP theft schemes.

4. Chenoa Redsky – Historical Anchor, Indigenous Justice Lead

Great-granddaughter of an Osage survivor, keeper of the original "Ghost Rights Ledger." Every mission she undertakes is ancestral vengeance with legal teeth.

5. Tao Ren – Technology Retrieval & Anti-Theft Engineer

Q-realm hacker, capable of hijacking live code and patent databases mid-theft. Once disabled an entire IP auction with a single phrase: "It was never yours."

6. Kairo Soren – Weaponsmith & Memory Archivist

Crafts weapons that double as mnemonic devices—every bullet remembers a name. Lives in a forge laced with the whispers of murdered visionaries.

Chapter 1: "The Breach of Inheritance"

The chapter opens in Los Angeles, 2034. A silent funeral procession weaves through Laurel Canyon. The casket holds Dr. Elias Navarro, Afro-Filipino energy visionary whose gravity-resonance motor once promised an energy revolution.

The world believes he died broke. His patents—somehow—now appear under a conglomerate led by Whitestone Holdings, a firm notorious for reverse-engineering minority innovations posthumously.

But Navarro's true legacy is encrypted within a fractal sketchpad found by his 17-year-old niece, Alani Navarro, a gifted coder unaware of her family's surveillance... and inheritance.

Unbeknownst to her, a R.I.P. operative watches from afar.

The skies ripple.

A whisper cracks through a comm-link:

“Cipher One to all nodes.

Navarro’s mind lives.

Asset is active. Protocol Aegis Rising is in motion.”
